Special Region of Yogyakarta

Special Region of Yogyakarta is located in Java, Indonesia. It is renowned as a centre of classical Javanese fine art and culture such as batik, ballet, drama, music, poetry, and puppet shows. At Yogyakarta's centre is the kraton, or Sultan's palace. Surrounding the kraton is a densely populated residential neighbourhood that occupies land that was formerly the Sultan's sole domain. Nearby to the city of Yogyakarta is Merapi Volcano. The northern outskirts of the city run up to the southern slopes of the mountain in Sleman Regency. Gunung Merapi (literally Mountain of Fire in Indonesian/Javanese), is an active Stratovolcano located on the border between Central Java and Yogyakarta, Indonesia.

Large majority of the population are native Javanese. However as the city with large numbers of Universities and relatively lower cost of living compared to other Indonesian cities, Yogyakarta has attracted large numbers of students from all over Indonesia. As the result there are many other Indonesian ethnic groups living in Yogyakarta, especially from eastern parts of Indonesia. Yogyakarta also has large numbers of Chinese Indonesian ethnic, clustered in and around Yogyakarta Chinatown near Malioboro. The inter-ethnic relations between Chinese Indonesian and native Javanese in Yogyakarta are mainly harmonious as Chinese Indonesian here were absorbed within Javanese culture and cultural exchanges is common.

Yogyakarta features a tropical monsoon climate. The city features a lengthy wet season running from October until June and a short dry season that only covers the months of July, August and September. The city averages roughly 2,200 mm (87 in) of precipitation annually. Yogyakarta experiences particularly heavy rainfall from November through April. Temperatures remain relatively constant throughout the course of the year, with average high temperatures at around 30 degrees Celsius and average lows at around 22 degrees Celsius.[source: Wikipedia]

Accommodation

Living in Yogyakarta is commonly cheaper than other big cities in Indonesia. During your study in Universitas Muhammadiyah Yogyakarta, you can find various types of boarding house (rumah kos), yet affordable price. There are many boarding houses located near the campus. Mostly, this kind of accommodation is gender specific for either females or males only. The boarding house price varies from around IDR 200,000 to IDR 1,000,000 per month depending on its facilities and location.

UNIVERSITY RESIDENCE (UNIRES)

Starting from 2008, UMY holds a program called UNIVERSITY RESIDENCE (UNIRES). This program aim at building the students morals and Islamic characters that will be beneficial for the society. This program is designed to meet the needs of the students for gaining the knowledge of Islamic Religion, English and Arabic languages and the implementation in daily life. This UNIRES program is open for both male and female freshman students for a year. Some benefits in joining this program are: the student can stay in UNIRES which is located near to campus, and its conducive environment can increase the students knowledge and Islamic personalities, beside that the securities also available for 24 hours per day. The best facilities in UNIRES are three twin-block-four-story buildings, separate location between male and female students, fully furnished bed room, bath room and pantry, hot spot area and sports facilities.
