To support a healthy campus, UMY launched Campus Bike!

To promote a healthy campus and encourage academic civitas to exercise, Universitas Muhammadiyah Yogyakarta (UMY) held a "Campus Bike" event to officially introduce campus bicycles. On Tuesday (11/4), the Vice Rector of Student Affairs, Alumni, and Al-Islam Kemuhammadiyah Faris Al-Fadhat, Ph.D., launched the Campus Bike in front of the AR. Fachruddin A-B Building

Faris Al-Fadhat pointed out in his remarks that the Campus Bike launch had been planned to let Civitas academics feel comfortable in the campus area with the facilities that have been offered "So, if anyone wants to move to a different building, they don't have to worry about whether they should walk or drive their vehicle, only by taking a bike, it will be comfortable doing their activities on campus.

Especially for students who have a full schedule of activities such as study, organization, conferences, and so on." Faris stated. In addition to promoting a healthy campus, Campus Bike was launched to help the SDGs and the government's initiatives to achieve a pollution-free campus.

"This is also part of the government's program to promote how campuses will help preserve nature while also being free of pollution, thus the civitas is healthy as well. We want to foster and strengthen UMY's branding so that UMY is recognized for its support of the green campus and the SDGs. This includes how civitas academics are aware of environmental and physical health," he stated.

Faris hopes that the whole academic civitas will be aware that it is preferable not to use personal vehicles on campus. "If you don't want to walk, ride a bicycle; that's what we want to encourage so that all lecturers, staff, and students can lessen their reliance on automobiles that use machines. Insha Allah, UMY has also provided comfortable pedestrian facilities," he said.
